IN THE RING WITH ROCKY

J. C. Penney, founder of the J. C. Penney chain of retail clothing stores, is credited with the following statement: "If a man's business requires so much of his time that he cannot attend the Sunday morning services and Wednesday night prayer meeting, then that man has more business than God intended him to have."

James Garfield, a former President of the United States, is another good example of not having more business than God intended, in reference to keeping the Lord's appointments.

During the first week of Garfield's presidency, a member of his cabinet insisted that he should attend the cabinet meeting that had been called for 10 a.m. on Sunday to deal with a national crisis; but President Garfield refused on the grounds that he had another appointment.

A cabinet member insisted that he break his appointment, since the meeting on Sunday was of national importance. Still, Garfield refused. Then the cabinet member remarked, "I should be interested to know with whom you could have an appointment so important that it cannot be broken?"

President Garfield replied, "I will be as frank as you are. My engagement is with the Lord, to meet Him at His house, at His table, at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow, and I shall be there."

President Garfield sanctified the Lord's Day; the crisis passed, and our nation survived.

Often, whether a person goes to church regularly or not does not depend on how far he lives from church, but rather how far he lives from God.

I love you all,
Pastor Rocky
